Programme overview
The programme provides in-depth teaching both of practical and theoretical aspects of EU business law, and the operation of the internal market in a global context. These issues are studied from an EU constitutional law framework, which underpins the EU legal order. However, students are able to tailor the programme to suit their own interests, and future job opportunities through the elective courses during the second year of the programme.

Programme modules/courses
COURSES IN THE 2 YEAR PROGRAMME: Compulsory courses (with number of credits, in total 75): EU Constitutional Law (12), Business Negotiations (3), Internal Market Law (12), Argumentation and Methodology (3), EU Competition Law (15), Master’s thesis (30), elective courses (45) in areas such as competition law, environmental law, moot court, design and trademark law etc.

Career prospects

“In Russia we studied a lot of theories and doctrinal research, we went through a lot of legislation and we didn’t pay much attention to case solving. In Sweden we mostly work with case studies, which I think is way better for understanding the changes in approaches and so on.”

Dmitry Kuptsov, from Russia

About the Faculty of Law
Lund University was founded in 1666 by King Karl XI, and the Faculty of Law is one of the four original faculties. Research at the Faculty encompasses all central areas of law and demonstrates a considerable breadth.

Education is provided for both undergraduates and postgraduates. All education within the Faculty is based on research. The majority of the Faculty’s activities focus on educating lawyers, leading to the Swedish degree of Master of Laws, LL. M. The Faculty has student exchange agreements with major universities worldwide and offers a range of courses and Master’s Programmes in English.

The Faculty’s premises are located in the historical centre of Lund. The Faculty of Law Library is one of the largest law libraries in Scandinavia with both Swedish and foreign literature, a large collection of journals as well as a European Documentation Centre (EDC).

About Lund University
Lund University was founded in 1666 and is repeatedly ranked among the world’s top 100 universities. The University has 41,000 students and 7,500 staff based in Lund, Helsingborg and Malmö. We are united in our efforts to understand, explain and improve our world and the human condition.

Lund is Sweden’s most attractive study destination. The University offers one of the broadest ranges of programmes and courses in Scandinavia, based on cross-disciplinary and cutting-edge research. The compact university campus encourages networking and creates the conditions for scientific breakthroughs and innovations. The University has a clear international profile, with partner universities in over 70 countries.

Funding of more than SEK 5 billion a year goes to research at eight faculties, which gives us one of Sweden’s strongest and broadest ranges of research activity. Over 30 of our research fields are world-leading, according to independent evaluations.

Two of the world’s leading materials research facilities are currently under construction in Lund: the MAX IV Laboratory, inaugurated in June 2016, is the leading synchrotron radiation facility in the world, and the European research facility ESS, which will house the world’s most powerful neutron source. The two facilities will be of decisive importance for future scientific and industrial development in both materials science and life science.
