Programme overview

Human Geography covers a wide range of topics from environmental and landscape changes to planetary urbanisation and economic crises. The scope of the subject is such that it will give you an excellent scientific base that can easily be combined with other academic subjects.

The Master's programme in Human Geography aims to provide students with:

- knowledge of the development of theories in human geography and their relations to theories in other social and environmental sciences
- understanding of the spatial dimensions of social, economic, cultural and environmental processes and their importance for welfare and living conditions in various geographical contexts
- skills in methods and the use of advanced tools to analyse the complex relations between development processes on local, regional, national and global scales
- competence to carry out scientific investigations, analyses and advanced planning related to political, economic, social and environmental issues in an increasingly complex world

The main areas of study included in the programme are urban, social and landscape geography, economic geography and political ecology.

Entry requirements and how to apply

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

A Bachelor's degree in human geography or equivalent. English Level 6 (equivalent to IELTS 6.5, TOEFL 90). See www.lunduniversity.lu.se for details on English proficiency levels.

HOW TO APPLY

1. Apply online: Go to www.lunduniversity.lu.se/human-geography. Click on "Apply" and follow the instructions for the online application at www.universityadmissions.se, the Swedish national application website.

Rank the chosen programmes in order of preference.

"As long as you are interested in analysing and broadening your knowledge, understanding discourses and geographical patterns, and have an interest in inequality, then it's a great programme! Human geography is well respected as a discipline since you use both qualitative and quantitative research methods, as well as GIS. If you are interested in the world, people and places, and if you're open-minded enough to be able to change your perspective, or at least understand a variety of perspectives, then it's an interesting programme to study."

Anwen Davis from the UK

2. Submit your supporting documents:

- General supporting documents: Check what documents you need to submit (i.e. official transcripts, degree diploma/proof of expected graduation, translations, proof of English, passport) and how you need to submit them at www.universityadmissions.se.
- Programme-specific supporting documents: When applying for the Master's in Human Geography, you must also submit a statement of purpose with your application (instructions are found at www.keg.lu.se).

3. Pay the application fee (when applicable).
